In the just-released Strategy for the Tourism Industry in the Upper Ottawa Valley, consultants Coopers & Lybrand discuss the increasing demand for cultural and heritage experiences by travellers to this region. This strategy reflects well on the efforts of the Friends because over the past few years we have focused many of our efforts on enhancing the cultural mosaic of this community. Collecting and publishing the stories of the people who have called this land home for centuries has opened up new worlds and opportunities for the Park, the people who visit, and those who live nearby. As we look to the next millennium, our goal is to maintain this momentum and expand the facilities and collections we have established.

But, as one Board member reminded us at a recent Friends meeting, Bonnechere Park is not just about "that cultural stuff" — it's about FUN too!" And so it is. Fresh air, clean water, sandy beaches, shaded campsites, evening campfires, interpretive programs, special events and great hospitality. It's all here.

On a personal note, my family and I will spend a week in a rustic cabin at Bonnechere this summer. Perhaps I'll keep a Bonnechere diary and feature the highlights in an upcoming issue. Then again, maybe I'll leave the keyboard at home, and just enjoy the fun stuff!

July 4: A Day of Discovery and Memories

Saturday, July 4, promises to be a special day at Bonnechere Park. It will be the culmination of eighteen months, and hundreds and hundreds of volunteer hours invested in our most recent publication: Discover the Spirits of the Little Bonnechere — A Cultural Activity Book for Youth. The idea for this book originated with Rory Mackay's manuscript, Spirits of the Little Bonnechere, which has sold over its release in 1996. It's a wonderful story obviously delighted to hear and read. And it presented a timely opportunity to expand our circle of friends — to reach out to the young people in our community and teach them about the Bonnechere's cultural riches which are so taken for granted.

Geared to young people age 8 to 15, Discover the Spirits is filled with interesting and fun-filled activities for the whole family to be enjoyed at the Park, at home or at school. Already, Natalie Boudens, one of our summer staff has conducted interpretive programs with the classes at Our Lady of Lourdes in Pembroke to overwhelming success. The following is from the book's introduction:

"When we write in a diary, take pictures at birthdays and christenings, or tell our children about the games we played as kids on snowy winter mornings, we make a record of our lives. Through these simple everyday acts we pass the stories between generations and keep the past and the people who have gone before us alive. We learn to appreciate their struggles, understand their sorrows, and rejoice in their triumphs. The history of our country is the collection of these stories. This is our cultural heritage."

"Discover the Spirits of the Little Bonnechere takes you on a trip through time as we revisit one small part of this heritage. It is the history of the people who lived and died along the Little Bonnechere River from 5000BC to today".

"And what a journey it is! We start by digging into the amazing science of archaeology. Then, we learn how Natives developed ways to survive in the harsh Canadian environment and in doing so created a rich culture that sustains them still. We meet the vibrant, free-wheeling and hard-working entrepreneur of the fur trade: the French coureur de bois. We follow the journey of a white pine from

DISCOVER: The Book

Ontario Parks have long been recognized for their excellence in natural heritage education. Guided hikes, interpretive talks and evening campfires provide lasting memories for park visitors. Our success in delivering first-class programming is very dependent on utilizing the resources unique to each park. Research activities within a park can provide excellent data from which programs can be developed. Often much of this interesting information only makes an appearance at such programs. All too often it remains hidden away in our archives. It is then that a "Friends" organization can greatly enhance access to this information by creating publications utilizing this material.

In 1996, the Friends of Bonnechere Parks, with much appreciated support of the Friends of Algonquin Park, published Spirits of the Little Bonnechere — A History of Exploration, Logging and Settlement 1800 to 1920, by author/educator Rory MacKay. Rory's work opened the door to the rich cultural history along the banks of the Little Bonnechere River. Presenting these stories to the visitors of the Park has provided a focus for our customer service staff.

We found however, that cultural information specifically focusing on our younger visitors was lacking. This need was addressed through the formation of a round table committee of volunteers who have contributed to the creation of the Friends of Bonnechere Parks' newest publication Discover the Spirits of the Little Bonnechere — A Cultural Activity Book for Youth. The creation and publication of this book reflects the innovative ways Friends can assist in positively protecting Ontario's valuable cultural resources.

Help us introduce the stories of the Bonnechere to a new generation of Friends.

the Bonnechere to a mast on one of England's Royal Navy ships. We watch as immigrants transform Basin Depot from a logging out-post to a small but thriving settlement. In the end, we are reminded that we must preserve these stories and our land for those who will come after us."

"Throughout the book we hear one insistent chord: the Bonnechere River as it flows through history. Join our host, Alex, on a trip through time in celebration of the human spirit. It's a wonderful journey you won't want to miss!

We've included two pages from the activity book to share with the young people in your circle of family and friends. If you enjoy them, be sure to pick up a copy on your next visit to the Park. To order by mail, call Betty at 613-732-9273. Funds raised from the sale of the Discover the Spirits will support the development of the Cultural Resource Centre at Bonnechere Park. Wholesale orders welcome.

Introducing the Annual Board of Directors Award

The Friends of Bonnechere Parks Board of Directors is introducing an award which will recognize the outstanding efforts of people who contribute generously of time and spirit to Park initiatives. This annual award will be dedicated to the memory of Helen and Peggi Armstrong who gave so much to this organization, thus setting the standard for all recipients. The award presentation will be made each August at our Annual General Meeting. However, it will be introduced and dedicated on July 4, at Bonnechere Park, in the presence of the Armstrong family who will be attending the book launch.

The design of the award will be based on Peggi's saucer — a circa 1880 saucer which was unearthed by Peggi Armstrong at the 1996 Basin Depot dig. About 5.5" round, the saucer will be embossed with the Park logo encircled in a ring of arrowheads and pine cones. The arrowheads symbolize the earliest cultures of the Bonnechere, while the pine cones represent preservation of this land for future generations. Potter Dan Hill of nearby Wilno will craft these limited edition pieces, while woodworker Don Burchat, also of Wilno will create the wood plaque which will be engraved for permanent display at Bonnechere Park. Each recipient will receive their personal saucer in recognition of outstanding achievements.

Notes from our friends at the Ontario Archaeological Society, Ottawa Chapter:

A representative of the Ottawa Chapter will be joining us on July 4, to show us the Peggi Armstrong Public Archaeology Award which was bestowed on our archaeological advisor, the late Helen Armstrong.

Archaeology Days will be returning to Bonnechere Park on August 15 with some new activities and lots of fun.

To learn more about OAS summer activities call Marion Clark: 819-682-0562, or visit the Ottawa Chapter web site at: www.cyberus.ca/~jlpilon/otchh.htm.

WANTED

Artifacts suitable for outfitting The Depot. Circa 1830 to 1920. Pioneer dishes, tools, furniture, photographs, maps and memories. Excellent care guaranteed!

Most Park visitors are well aware of The Depot at Bonnechere: two authentic ranger cabins in a rustic woodland setting. Since their refurbishment, Park staff have used these cabins to host Spirit Nights and special events in an aura that harkens back to days gone by.

The Friends of Bonnechere Parks hopes to extend the use of these buildings by establishing a permanent collection of local artifacts which would be accessible Park visitors. In recent years, while conducting research for the various books we have published on local cultural history, it has become obvious that many area families, collectors and amateur historians have treasured items which tell the story of life in the Bonnechere Valley in centuries past. While many realize the value of what they have collected and saved, most are at a loss as to what should be done with such pieces. And while some artifacts are carefully catalogued and preserved, other are "lying at the bottom of the kitchen drawer."

Already we've made some amazing finds on our own — at Basin Depot and Bonnechere Park. And friends of the Park have been generous, too. Ancient arrowheads, pot shards, Peggi's saucer, photographs, postcards, rustic furniture and logging tools. At this stage, even the smallest artifact is so important to us because it can tell so much of the story of who lived here and how the land treated them. So check you check you attic, basement, kitchen cupboards or garage — what you have there might be a museum piece!

The Old Wood Cook Stove

It wasn't that many years ago that the lumbermen of the Little Bonnechere River made a point of stopping in at the Lafleur homestead on Curriers Lake. Therein, brother Willie and sister Bella Lafleur would insist that one didn't leave before sitting down to a "wee bite to eat." The combination of fresh air, hard work and long days created healthy appetites for those forest workers. And while the meal was hearty and graciously served, it was ultimately the cookstove which provided the focal point for most visits, as everyone gathered 'round for warmth and polite conversation. Vern Eno, one of our current Park staff, vividly remembers the delicious aroma of the homemade bread and fresh pies which were baked in the Lafleur oven. In those times, to leave an Ottawa Valley homestead without accepting such hospitality, would have been an insult to the hosts, and a missed opportunity for the traveller!

Today, upon entering the Bonnechere Park Office you'll notice our very own Forest Beauty Stove — a treasured artifact from long ago. Generously donated by Friend and historian Rory MacKay, this stove was built by the Findlay Bros. Company Limited in nearby Carleton Place, Ontario. The large front cooking surface, combined with the bread oven at the rear, provided plenty of space for the skilled chefs of yesteryear. Although the years of kitchen service may be in the past for our stove, we hope that the hospitality it once bestowed is rekindled often at Bonnechere, today, and for years to come.

Many thanks to Rory for yet another generous contribution to the Park.

Art in the Park

The scenic landscapes of Ontario Parks have long fascinated and inspired Canadian artists of various levels of skill and recognition. While Tom Thomson was probably the most famous of these artisans, he and his work are among good company.

As you paddle quietly up the Bonnechere River on a summer afternoon, you may come across a gentleman in a beautiful cedar strip canoe, painting intently while delicately balancing his paint, brushes and canvas. Chances are you've just met Bonnechere's artist-in-residence, Herschel Payne, who spends many a summer's day creating new masterpieces in the remote wilds of the Bonnechere River watershed. These inspired works adorn the walls of many of our Park buildings.

It is with this in mind that the Natural Heritage Education Program will feature, on select Saturday mornings: Artist-in-the-Park Painting Workshops. During each one-and-one-half session, Herschel will instruct participants in the fundamentals of mixing colours and painting landscapes. Each visitor will leave the workshop with an appreciation for the use of colour, and their very own 5" x 7" work of art!

Those who are ultimately captured by the painting bug, won't want to miss the Eastern Central Ontario Art Association Paint In at Bonnechere Park on August 27.
